Pulitzer Prize Winners in History Series:

Well-Behaved Women Seldom Make History

Laurel Thatcher Ulrich
Department of History
Harvard University

Laurel Thatcher Ulrich is Phillips Professor of Early American History at Harvard. She won the Pulitzer Prize for History in 1991 for A Midwife’s Tale: The Life of Martha Ballard Based on Her Diary, 1785–1812. During her tenure as a MacArthur Fellow she assisted in the production of a PBS documentary based on A Midwife’s Tale.

Wednesday, October 31st
4:00—5:30 PM
Ballroom B, Activities and Recreation Center

Sponsored by
The Institute of Governmental Affairs
The Center for History, Society and Culture
Department of History