This course will primarily explore Urrea’s use of narrative in his effort to seek to combine information and ideas from various issues covered in the text that are today the source of great controversy and conflict in United States’ popular debate.

Students will expand their understanding of the causes, effects, and human experiences of immigration as well as the history of immigration and border enforcement policies.

Instructor:
Javier Martin Ortiz, J.D.

CRN 81115 - 2 units (lecture)
Lecture: TR 12:10 – 1:50 in 226 Wellman

CRN 81116 – 2 units (discussion)
Discussion: TR 2:10 – 3:50 in 226 Wellman

Hum 1d: concurrent enrollment in Hum 1 is required to enroll and for GE units: ArtHum & Writing