The Davis Humanities Institute Research Cluster on Militarization Presents:

The US-North Korean Nuclear Crisis

Come to a teach-in, where Christine Ahn (Korea Policy Institute) and Terry K. Park (PhD Candidate in Cultural Studies at UC Davis), will explore these questions and more.

Worried about a possible North Korean nuclear attack against the US? Wondering why there’s a North Korean nuclear crisis in the first place? Want to know more about US-North Korea relations, North Korean society, and the Korean War? Amused/Confused by Dennis Rodman’s “basketball diplomacy”?

Friday, May 31, 12:30-2pm
1150 Hart Hall

Co-sponsored by the Consortium for Women and Research Interest Group on Gender and Militarization, East Asian Studies, American Studies, Asian American Studies, and Cultural Studies.
