Join us for a Social Justice Initiative Mellon Project Roundtable

Settler Colonialism in Palestine in Comparative Perspective

Monday December 8, 2014
4:00 p.m.- 5:00 p.m. | 3201 Hart Hall
w/ Professor Magid Shihade and his students in MSA 181C: Topics in Arab Studies

This roundtable, with students’ participation, is an exploration of the question of settler colonialism in Palestine using a comparative framework to discuss other settler colonial cases in an attempt to study the rationales, dynamics, structures, and impact of settler colonialism. A historical examination of examples such as the United States, Australia, and Canada as presumably completed projects of settler colonialism will allow for a critical view and a deeper understanding of processes in Palestine-Israel, and the possibilities for the future of the peoples there.
