ARABIC AND LATIN NAMES IN THE CODEX MENDOZA:
AN APPROACH TO MULTILINGUAL TRANSLATION
PRACTICES IN COLONIAL SPANISH AMERICA

Belén Bistué
Assistant Professor
Comparative Literature, CONICET
English Literature,
Universidad Nacional de Cuyo

3:00pm, Tuesday, March 1st
Sproul Hall Room 912

Belén Bistué holds a PhD in Comparative Literature from UC Davis. She works as a tenured Researcher in Comparative Literature for the Argentine Research Council (CONICET) and Assistant Professor of English at the Universidad Nacional de Cuyo, in Mendoza, Argentina. She specializes in translation history, with a focus on collaborative and multilingual translation practices. Her publications in this field include the essay “The Task(s) of the Translator(s): Multiplicity as Problem in Renaissance European Thought” (2011), winner of the A. Owen Aldridge prize, and the book Collaborative Translation and Multi-Version Texts in Early Modern Europe (Ashgate, 2013). She is currently studying the use of multilingual translation practices in the context of the Spanish American conquest and colonization.

For more info about this event please contact Prof. Ana Peluffo at aopeluffo@ucdavis.edu.