

Native American Studies presents:

Discussion with Dr. Mehana Vaughn

Native American Studies is pleased to present a sharing circle with Dr. Mehana Vaughn and discussion of her new book, Kaiāulu.

February 7, 2020

2:30 PM - 4:30 PM

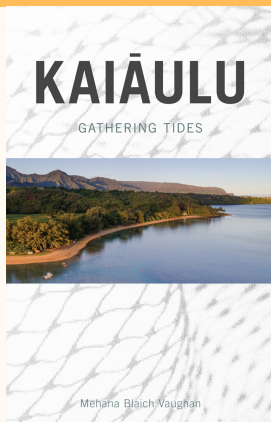

3201 Hart Hall

Refreshments will be provided

Image: <https://www.switzernetwork.org/users/mehana-vaughn>

Mehana Blaich Vaughn, is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Management at the University of Hawai'i at Manoa and U.H. Sea Grant. Mehana studies interactions between people and the environment, particularly how people use, care for, and make decisions about natural resources at the local level. She works with a consortium of scholars dedicated to helping Hawai'i communities develop inter-disciplinary solutions to natural and cultural resource management, food security and sustainability issues. Her specific research interests include collaborative resource governance, participatory research methods, contemporary management based on indigenous systems, watershed ecology, and place-based education.

UC DAVIS
DEPARTMENT OF
NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES

50 YEARS - UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM
20 YEARS - GRADUATE PROGRAM