Garabed Nishanian, Provincial Armenian Wedding in Moush, 1886/1890

Dzovinar Derderian received her PhD in 2019 at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor in the Department of Middle East Studies. Her dissertation is titled “Nation-Making and the Language of Colonialism: Voices from Ottoman Van in Armenian Print Media and Handwritten Petitions, 1820s to 1870s.” She has co-edited a volume entitled The Ottoman East in the Nineteenth Century: Societies, Identities and Politics (I.B. Tauris, 2016). Her publications include “Mapping the Fatherland: Artsvi Vaspurakan’s Reforms through the Memory of the Past” and “Shaping Subjectivities and Contesting Power through the Image of Kurds, 1860s” in two different edited books.

Co-sponsored by the Department of Gender, Sexuality and Women’s Studies, the Global Migration Center, and the Women’s and gender History (WGH) program of the Department of History.
